PAPER PRODUCTS

Among the leading industries of Canada it is not generally known that paper products make second only to agriculture. The outstanding industry in the group is newspaper. It started its upward trend in May 1923 and has exceeded 1922 in every month since; the production for the forestry group as a whole averaging about 14.2 per cent increase.

Exports of planks and boards were 1,017,837,000 feet compared with 674,167,000 in the preceding year. British Columbia during 1923 broke all records for overseas business.

Pulp and paper is the largest branch of the forest group of Canadian industries. It is also the largest single industry in the Dominion, and has retained this position for almost a decade. Even in 1922 it led all industries in gross and net production values and was second only to electric power in capital investment. The pulp and paper industry has been characterized by spectacular growth, which it primarily owes to the close association of immense forest resources and abundant water powers within Canada. The best measure of its progress available for 1923 is news print production, which rose from 117,769 tons in April to 175,300 tons in December and had touched 194,200 tons in August and 192,720 tons again in November.

In December newsprint exports exceeded production. Exports for that month totalled 3,712,737 cwt or approximately 185,000 tons of which 116,000 tons were absorbed by the United States. Other large importers of Canadian newsprint in December was the United Kingdom, 481,211 cwt. The chief paper products of Canada in addition to newsprint are paper or boards wrapping paper, book and writing paper, wall paper and paper boxes and bags. In point of value the leading product is paper boxes and bags with paper boards second and book and writing paper third. All these products figure in the export returns where paper board leads in value, amounting to $1,162,016 for the year 1923 with pulp and paper wall boards second at $605,745. Exports of book paper in 1923 had a value of $226,882, wrapping paper $414,111, wallpaper $164,28, roofing paper $75,892 and boxes and bags of paper $59,596.

Total exports of paper and paper products including newsprint in December last were valued at $6,712,891.

COMMON SENSE

There ought to be enough common sense in European capitals to pave the way for some sort of new deal.

Today's situation is not like that of 1914. In that day the world not yet had had its frightful demonstration of the catastrophe which war brings a victor and vanquished alike; nor was the immensity of war a matter of general knowledge, except among a relatively small group of statesmen.

Now every one, down to the most ignorant peasant knows that war is near knows that if it comes it will mean complete disaster for everyone involved.

In one being a blind optimist in supposing that this general awareness will create a pressure on the rulers of Europe that will lead to the adoption of more sane policies?

It is hardly worth while to realize its own peril. Today it cannot help realizing it. And the disorder, the bloodshed, the senseless waste of life and property brought may, just possibly, bring the statesmen of Europe to their senses.

PREMIER HEARS

ROAD REQUEST

Says Strathmore-Rockyford Highway will be Relief Project.
Edmonton— Construction of a highway from Granger area east through Strathmore, Carbon and Rockyford was requested by a delegation of about 20 residents of Red Deer Valley towns which interviewed Premier J. E. Brown and Hon. O. L. McPherson, Minister of Public Works, Wednesday.

With the delegation were A. B. Clapp, U. F. A. District and John Buckley, U. F. A. Glenora.

Members of the delegation were from both west and south of Drumheller.

E. M. Brown, Acme was the chief speaker.

Request was made for a new road about 35 miles long north and south from a point one and a half miles northeast of Granger to a point 11 miles east of Strathmore, through Carbon and Rockyford.

Mr. Brown pointed out that this was a secondary highway and would help the relief situation.

Mr. McPherson said the road would serve a great need and would well fit into an ultimate highway scheme. But at present the government did not have the money for all projects asked for and it would be carried out only on an unemployment relief scheme.

Premier Brown said the highway program depended on the extent of the Dominion relief program and the extent to which interest rates were being reduced. He expected an announcement from Ottawa on the relief program at an early date after which the whole situation would be dealt with.

LORD DUNCANNON FINED FOR CARELESS DRIVING

On a charge of driving a motor car without due care and attention a fine of $50 including costs, was imposed at Huntington, England, Saturday on Viscount Duncannon, youthful son and heir of the Earl of Bessborough, Governor General of Canada. The case was a sequel to an accident last month when a motorcar driven by Lord Duncannon skidded and overturned, inflicting fatal injuries on Albert Surprenant, formerly of the United States, and slight injuries to another passenger. The chief constable of the district who made road tests following the fatality declared the outside wheels of the car must have been in the air for 70 feet before the machine landed off the roadside and overturned.

THE FRUIT PARADE

The prairie fruit parade is on. We come mail doming to the Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, during the past year telling of new seedling fruits of promise raised by individuals and nurserymen, obtaining here that of any two previous years.

Several thousand people are planting fruit seed of apples, crab apples, plums, and cherries, sour cherries and grapes. The next decade should witness many new good things as each seedling is a variety and differs more or less from its mother parent. This is anticipated with plums as they only bear fruits when cross-pollinated by a different variety. However, apple and other true fruit seedlings also vary a great deal.

Eggs readily absorb moisture, and for that reason should never be placed near such food as fish, cheese, or onions. If a case or crate containing eggs is placed in a cellar, the crate should rest on the floor will cause mould or must.
